LONDON, May 1.—(AP)—Herald
Ankara quoted "well-informed sources at Bern today as saying that the German high command expects an Allied offensive in the Balkans soon.
The same sources reported large concentrations of Anglo-American troops in the near east and arrival of Allied fighter-bomber squadrons at points off the Greek coast.
Meanwhile invasion fever mounted here and on the continent and official Allied assurances that Europe is "not far distant."
Europe's vast underground army, estimated in the millions, was told by the new American broadcasting station in Berlin in its opening broadcast last night that Gen.
Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme Allied commander in the west, and
Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, supreme Allied commander in the south, will give the signal to rise up against the Germans when the zero hour arrives.

"DON'T BE TRICKED"
"Until then, be discreet," Robert E. Sherwood, overseas director of G.I.U., said in inaugurating the new station in Berlin. "Do not be tricked into premature action by Nazi lies or deception."

Underlining Sherwood's words of caution, the London Daily Express reported from Geneva that the Germans already have in in-

Berlin. "Do not be tricked into premature action by Nazi lies or

Allies Plan to Cut Luftwaffe to Skeleton Before Invasion

LONDON, May 1.—Allied plans call for air attacks from now on which will overshadow the April record by a wide margin and which, with good weather and good luck, might reduce the German air force to a skeleton before the great land campaign gets under way.
Three months ago that sort of statement would have been classed as rank wishful thinking. Today on the basis of full information, much of it still unknown publicly, experienced observers think it is entirely within the limits of possibility.
These men feel today that at the worst the German defense fighter force can be made to fight off, enough, and can be hurt badly enough in the process, that it can be crippled once and for all when the invasion comes.

objectives identified only as "military installations."

Crews of R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. four-engine Lancasters which participated in last night's attack on a German ammunition dump at Maitland, 25 to 40 miles southwest of Paris, said their planes were lost as much as 400 feet in the air by successive munitions explosions.

Planes were visible when the planes were passing over the English coast, nearly 200 miles away. Smoke plumed 3,000 feet in the air over the target area.

RAID ACHERES, SOMAIN

French Lancasters joined with Halifaxes in pouring block-busters and fire bombs on railway yards at Achères, near Paris, and Somain, 25 miles east of Arras in northern France.

Minor raids on western Germany and mine-laying operations completed the night phase of the offensive. One plane was lost.

Despite the recent illness, Mr. King looked remarkably well when he stepped out of his car and good-naturedly posed for the photographers. As he was just about to enter the 10 Downing Street, they asked for more shots.

China Admits Fall Of Strategic Pass

CHUNGKING, May 1.—(AP)—Chinese field reports admitted to the fall of historic Hsiao Pass, ancient battlefield guarding the way to Loyang in Honan province. This is a distinct blow to the Chinese.

An eight-day battle preceded loss of the pass, a small piece of flatland backed by steep mountains on three sides. It fronts the Yellow River border of the Lushan railway, from which the Chinese had removed the tracks.

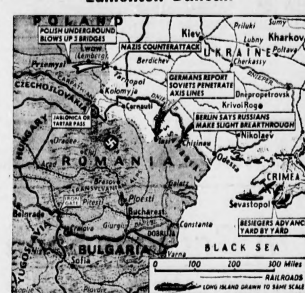

The invaders were reported to have begun an immediate fortification of the pass, rushing preparations for a possible drive on Loyang.

Loyang experienced a heavy Japanese attack.

The Japanese continued an advance down the railroad line, threatening the important town of Hsueh-chang, 50 miles south of Chungking. Dispatches said a small number of Japanese had been killed.

News of the Japanese had been followed by a report that they had attacked the southern.

Red Cross Fund

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)—The American Red Cross announced Saturday night it had exceeded its $200,000,000 war fund goal for 1944 by more than $11,000,000. The 1944 campaign started March 1.

Advices from the front yesterday said the troops east of the Mosag valley were only 45 road miles due north of Myitkya.

From the battle front in northern India, meanwhile, came reports that the Japanese are making for an all-out assault on Imphal, main Allied base on the Manipur plain.

An Allied spokesman said that the Japanese, faced with dwindling supplies, must either attack shortly in an effort to improve their position or make an ignominious withdrawal. The enemy's invasion of India has been too costly, he said, for him to withdraw without inflicting great loss of face, the spokesman added.

Canol Project Opened Sunday At Ceremony

adian government at yesterday's ceremony, said it is the manner of accomplishment of Canol and Allied northern projects. The United States and Canada "have given to the world a practical demonstration of the value of a constructive spirit in international relations."

DESIGNED FOR A WAR

Big-Gen. L. D. Wortham, commanding general of the northwest service command and responsible for construction of the Canol project and refinery, declared that all the work of the project has been designed for the sole reason that we are at war with a very powerful enemy.

Canol was "one of the many developments designed to defeat that enemy. Therefore I do not believe there is any more just cause than that to which this refinery is dedicated today—after defeat of the Japanese empire."

Premier C. M. Manning of Alberta, and Lt.-Gov. J. C. Brown and Chief Justice Horace Harvey represented Alberta at the ceremonies. Air Marshal Robert Leckie and other senior R.C.A.F. officials also were present.

STARTED IN 1942

Work on the Fort Norman field, approximately 100 miles north of Calgary and southern Alberta's famed Turner Valley, started June 29, 1942, just two days after the United States government proposed development of the area to Canadian authorities. Final links were welded last Feb. 18 near Macmillan.

Macmillan said the project was divided into two main sections: the pipeline and the refinery. The pipeline was built in the Mackenzie mountain range.

It consists of wells at Norman Wells, construction of a road and pipeline from the field to the refinery, a 1,500-mile network of pipelines for distribution of the refined products, a pipeline to the refinery at Hamilton, Ont., pump stations and storage tanks.

The Norman Wells-Whitehorse pipeline snakes across the dangerous Mackenzie mountain range and over terrain that was mostly a blank space on pre-war maps.

The refinery will furnish aviation fuel for planes using the series of airfields between Edmonton and Fairbanks, Alaska; gasoline for the trucks and army equipment rolling over the Alaska Highway and Diesel fuel for use in tractors and similar equipment. Geologists have estimated potential possibilities of the field at between 50,000,000 and 100,000,000 barrels.

Canol, which stands for Canadian Oil, was discovered in 1939 by Alexander Mackenzie, discoverer of the Great river which bears his name, but its development dates back to 1919 when a well was drilled on the site by Dr. Leo Link, geologist for Imperial Oil Company of Calgary.

Major development of the field, however, was carried out two years later, dictated by war needs following opening of Canada's north and imminent invasion threat by the Japanese.

Four of Six Nazi Escapees in U.S. Are Recaptured

SEATTLE, May 1.—(AP)—Four of six German prisoners, who escaped from the Fort Lewis prisoner of war camp last week, were back in captivity yesterday, the United States federal bureau of investigation announced.

Three of the prisoners, Hans Letman, 30; Helmut Weisel, 22; and Herman Fischer, 39, who escaped Saturday night, were captured by military patrols early yesterday near Roy, Wash., less than 10 miles south of Fort Lewis. The F.B.I. did not disclose further details.

Another, Otto Zitzler, 32, who escaped from the Fort Lewis prisoner of war camp, was apprehended by Tacoma police Saturday night.

Aussie General Raps Superiors

SYDNEY, May 1.—(CP)—Lt.-Gen. Gordon Bennett criticized the Australian army chief of staff today and said he was retiring because he had been "reluctant to administer command. Wearing his uniform for the last day before going into civilian life, the general who escaped when the Japanese took Singapore said:

"I came back when Australia was in dire peril, solely with the object of giving warning about Japanese methods. I wrote some textbooks which eventually became the basis of the principles applied in New Guinea."

"As senior corps commander I felt it my right to return to Canada but I was relegated to administrative command and cannot accept it."

Festive May Day In Soviet Russia

MOSCOW, May 1.—(AP)—Russia celebrated its third May Day of war without traditional Red Square demonstration but with brilliant holiday festivities, cheered by Premier Stalin's proclamation in Germany had lost the war.

Stalin's order, praising the victors of last year's war, was a final joint assault on Germany from east and west, was broadcast repeatedly, published in newspapers, and posted on city walls.

The International Labor Day was observed, with public concerts, special movies, athletic games and family parties. Moscow was decked with Red flags, banners and slogans. Citizens farther in the interior held mass demonstrations.

Find Old Books

BARI, Italy, May 1.—(CP)—Three American soldiers discovered a collection of 15th and 16th century books, manuscripts and pamphlets estimated to be almost priceless in value in a ruined church in the front-line town of Minturno. The collection, in crated boxes, was turned over to the University of Naples.

shore and scored several hits on it. The crippled warship was surrounded by armed trawlers and light craft. The German tried with great success to hide it with a smoke screen from the shore. None of the aircraft was lost, despite light flak. The pilots said the Germans apparently had abandoned attempts to reach the stricken destroyer.

DISCOVER DESTROYERS

The engagement opened near Ile de Vierge at the westernmost tip of France in the pre-dawn hours of Saturday, when the patrolling Tirabids discovered two German destroyers ghosting along the French coast.

They closed with the enemy who threw up a smoke screen and fired, firing steadily. The lighter German ships appeared to be carrying their superior speed would carry them to safety.

The Athabaskan was hit by shell-fire forward of her bridge and flames lapped up the superstructure. She steamed on, maintaining heavy fire with her after guns. Another enemy salvo smashed her after deck and the Athabaskan slowed but continued to fire with main gun. She was hit again and sent her stern bow off and sank immediately, followed soon by the fore part.

CHASE CONTINUED

The Haida continued the chase, firing broadside after broadside. One of the German vessels swung around and opened fire on its own sort apparently under the impression that it was another Canadian ship. Then, blinding and out of control, the Nazi crumpled nose-on onto the rocks of the French coast.

The second German vessel slipped off into the muck while the Haida returned to the spot where the Athabaskan went down. She stopped there and remained until the sunken vessel's signal, Cmdr. Stubbs, who was floating on one of the rafts, yelled "Get away, Get away!"

The rescue operation was probably the coolest and most daring part of the action. With the twinkling lights of the Athabaskan's lifejackets to guide him, Cmdr. de Wolfe nosed his vessel gently among the survivors, and when he brought it to a stop he had men throw overhead all available lifejackets, rafts and boats.

FORCED TO MOVE

Despite the presence of enemy craft, the Haida spent 15 minutes dead still in the vicinity, picking up survivors, until Stubbs' warning and the imminence of enemy aircraft, closing in forced her to get under way.

Lieut. J. W. Scott, R.C.N.V.R., of Halifax, one of those picked up, said he had been on the same raft. Stubbs, who could have been picked up too, if he had wanted the Haida to stay.

"It was the action of a very brave and gallant gentleman," said Lieut. William Slater, R.C.N. public relations officer aboard the Haida. Stubbs' order, he said, left the Athabaskan's commander "covered with oil" as drifting raft to meet a cold, unfriendly dawn off an enemy coast.

Besides Scott, who was on his first sea appointment, 39 ratings were picked up by the Haida while six others landed on the south coast in a motor-launch dropped by the Haida in which they made their way in safety across the channel.

SHARED IN VICTORY

The Athabaskan fought her last fight three days after she shared a victory over another Nazi destroyer in the channel. Other vessels participating in that action were the new British cruiser Black Prince, and the Canadian destroyers Haida, Huron and British destroyer Ashanti.

The Athabaskan was holed by a German aerial torpedo in the Bay of Biscay, last August and was kept out of action for some months. On that occasion the Germans claimed she had been sunk.

INTENSIFIED ACTIVITY

LEADING TO CHANNEL CLASH

OTTAWA, May 1.—(CP)—Intensification of pre-invasion naval sweeps on the French coast is believed in naval circles here to have led to Saturday morning's engagement off Brest, France, which saw the sinking of the Canadian destroyer Athabaskan and beaching and firing of a German ship.

Navy Minister Macdonald said the Athabaskan, commanded by Lieut. Cmdr. John Hamilton Stubbs, was sunk in an engagement with German destroyers off the coast of France. An undetermined number

"Just think—we were in Berlin on our honeymoon, and here it is in the news again!"

Jekyll or Hyde?

By PUGH MOORE

LONDON, May 1.—(AP)—Is Dr. Marcel Petiot a Jekyll or a Hyde? A patriot or a friend?

The Germans have been calling him "the butcher of Rue Lezauze," master of a Parisian "horror house" where perhaps 60 women died in perspective-view of their slayer.

But fighting French in London are questioning the Nazi stories; Petiot, they say, may not be any sort of a monster but a patriot, a leader of the underground whom the Nazis are trying to track by trickery.

They point out: "The gruesome discovery in 21 Rue Lezauze sent a shiver down the spines of Parisians," the German radio said, "since a current French film is 'Murder: Lives in House No. 21'."

That say Petiot's supporters, is almost too much coincidence of survivors have been picked up and German vessels claim 85 prisoners have been taken. Next-of-kin will be advised as quickly as possible.

"At least two enemy warships were in the action. Repeated hits were scored by Canadian ships and one enemy destroyer was driven ashore and left on fire."

NO CASUALTY REPORTS

No word has been received on casualties and identification of survivors and it is not known whether Lieut. Cmdr. Stubbs is safe. The captain won his D.S.O. when he commanded the destroyer Assiniboine in a successful U-boat attack.

A naval spokesman said that the list of casualties among Athabaskan will not be made public for at least several days.

The naval action was apparently similar to one in which the Athabaskan was engaged in the English Channel last Wednesday when Canadian destroyers were believed to have fought an engagement together for the first time in this war.

At that time Cmdr. H. G. de Wolfe of Halifax, led a flotilla that included the Athabaskan and two other Canadian destroyers in a battle which dispersed four German destroyers, one of which was sunk. The three remaining enemy ships ran under the shadow of British French coast defenses.

Speculation here is that as part of pre-invasion preparations a Canadian flotilla has been skirting the French coast engaging any enemy warships that poke their horns out of range of protecting shore batteries.

BUILT IN BRITAIN

Built in Britain, the Athabaskan was one of the largest and most powerful destroyers afloat. Her gunpower was more than double that of a destroyer of the class of H.M.C.S. Saguenay. She had four twin mountings compared with four single 4.5 of the earlier type.

She also had a galaxy of anti-aircraft weapons, reinforcing her main armament. Torpedo tubes and depth charges were added to her fighting potential so that she could tackle anything on or under the sea and also anything in the air.

At the commissioning ceremony a year ago she took on an uninitiated crewman—a ginger cat that strolled on board just as the white ensign was being raised. The cat was immediately adopted and put on muster as "Ginger."

VICTORIA, May 1.—(CP)—Lieut. Cmdr. John Hamilton Stubbs, 32, commander of H.M.C.S. Athabaskan, Canadian destroyer whose torpedoing in the English channel Saturday was announced yesterday, took over command of the Athabaskan last November.

Cmdr. Stubbs was born at Kaslo, B.C. spent his youth in Victoria and went to England shortly after he took his naval examinations in Brentwood, B.C. His wife, Mrs. Ruth Moore Stubbs of Victoria, now resides at St. John's, Nfld.

15 Men Accused Of Having Total Of 55 'Wives'

SALT LAKE CITY, May 1.—

(AP)—District Judge Ray Van Cott, Jr., Saturday set for May 15 trial of 15 Salt Lake City men accused of living with a total of 55 women not their legal wives.

The 15, all charged with unlawful cohabitation, are members of the "Fundamentalist" cult which professes belief in plural marriage as a religious principle.

All 15 pleaded not guilty. Trial will be conducted, state and defense attorneys said, by presentation of written statements setting forth the facts the state believes it could prove if witnesses were called. Attached will be a statement explaining the defendants believe in the principle of plural marriage.

The men are charged with living with from two to six women each.

Of the 19,697 Canadian casualties in the first four years of the war, 9,209 were killed or died of wounds, injuries, 2,145 were missing, 383 were dead, and 4,360 are prisoners of war.

WINNIPEG, May 1.—(CP)—

His American army fliers have been awarded United States war department awards for "extraordinary achievement" while rescuing two men and a woman from threatened starvation at Fort Ross, lonely Arctic outpost, last November, it was announced here Saturday by U.S. Army authorities.

The fliers and their awards are: Maj. J. F. Stannell-Fletcher, Dimock, Pa., who made a hazardous parachute jump during the rescue; Distinguished Flying Cross; Maj. M. G. Hancock, Baltimore, Md.; Capt. O. Packard, Berkeley, Calif.; Air Medal; Capt. W. H. Corwin, Long Beach, Calif.; Distinguished Flying Cross; Capt. D. C. Duff, Trenton, N.J.; Air Medal; Sgt. R. W. ## Plane Fuselages of Glass, Plastics Superior to Metal

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, May 1.—(CP)—A new airplane structural material of glass and plastics, 50 per cent stronger than metal fuselages and 80 per cent stronger than wooden fuselage is now in service, was announced here yesterday.

The new material is a quarter to a half inch thick. The plastic reinforced by glass fibres in a manner like that of concrete reinforced by steel rods.

The fibre glass reinforcement is either a glass cloth, or fine fibres. Strengths vary somewhat according to the direction in which the majority of the glass fibres run.

The announcement was made by the Bureau of Industrial Service, Inc., with a military clearance from both Wright field and Washington.

In tests at Wright field the material was formed into fuselage, side panel and tail cones, with the glass-plastic serving as the outer and inner layers of a sandwich, and the core of balsa wood.

In firing tests the new structure perforated cleanly, without flowing into jagged edges. Certain high explosive projectiles went through without detonating. Failure to explode was due to low density of the new-type walls.

The announcement stated that the new stuff is a potential contribution to aviation and that uses are expected in automotive, marine and building fields.

Almost 90 per cent of the medical supplies of the American army in Britain are supplied by the British Gelsapo.

NAZIS ISSUE SECRET ORDERS FOR INVASION

LONDON, May 1.—(CP)—

Measures to be taken instantly on the declaration of "war danger," include the arrest of all members of the French resistance groups known to the Gestapo.

In the Far East, in the remote interior of some countries, clocks are unknown ... and the inhabitants tell the time of day by looking at the eyes of a cat.
 From early morning till noon the cat's pupils grow smaller. From a thin line at noon they gradually grow full round at night.

In Europe millions of enslaved people, millions of waiting soldiers watch the

In Canada we see the weapons of war filing out of our roaring factories ...

Hello Darling! I am on a big ship in the middle of the ocean, and thinking awfully hard about you and Mummy. Some day when Daddy is home again, we will get on a lovely big ship and sail away out where the winds come from — to an island Mummy and I know about that's all sunshine and flowers.

Or maybe we'll just stay home for a while and play. We could go up to the farm and see the dogs and horses, or visit Grandma in her big house and see the goldfish.

I don't know when Daddy Can come home, but if you say your prayers every night and wish very hard, it may not be much longer now.

But darling, please

ALTHOUGH the major leagues' two surprise clubs, St. Louis Browns and New York Giants both slipped twice during the weekend, May Day finds the Browns still retaining a big margin over the entire field and giving every indication of keeping up the hot pace for a while at least.

Giants have vacated their top berth in the National League. Cardinals look to be settled in their accustomed position as the team to watch, even shot at the big end of next fall's series split, just a matter of routine business.

Cincinnati is travelling just about as forecasted by pre-season dopsters, but the expected loss of Elmer Riddle, 34-year-old winner of last year's pennant by the production physical and mental, even Chicago Cubs, of course are the big tip to day. ## Americans Take Part in Opener English Cricket

LONDON, May 1.—(CP)—The English Cricket Club's green was the scene of an unprecedented first day in history. Americans, part in the English cricket season's first rain-raised match.

A United States army airforce eleven, composed of men from a bomber base near London, played the Public School Wanderers club in the benefit of King's College hospital.

The Americans finished 30 runs behind the English, who were in the play for a good amount of quality, with the Americans more prolific at bat than the English. But what made the match extraordinary was the Yanks' pep display of "that old pop" chatter.

Usually the cricket green is a quiet place, with occasional hand-clapping and cheering from the audience in appreciation of a smart play. The players are usually in quiet concentration on their game.

The Americans tickled the English with their constant chatter. "Put it in there, boy." "Easy out, easy out." "O.K., it's got this last man." "Let the wood on it!" and "Look that!"

The Americans, who learned the game from villagers near their base, were scheduled for May 14 and 15, an Australian eleven and a July 20 encounter with Canadian team.

One judge voted for Hall, the other for Grant, and Referee No. 3, Mickey McGuire cast the deciding vote in favor of the Scot.

Hopp Close To Equaling Putout Mark

ST. LOUIS, May 1.—(AP)—St. Louis Cardinals reached their top-of-the-league National League standing in a double victory, 4-0 and 7-5, over Chicago Cubs yesterday, thus amassing nine triumphs in 11 starts this season.

In the last of the seventh in the second game St. Louis club opened up with a barrage of heat hitting that amounted to six runs and knocked Wynn out of the box.

Chicago put on a finalizing rally that had nearly 15,000 fans on the edges of their seats, but the Cubs picked up what was enough to catch the Redbirds.

Outfielder Johnny Hoop came with a digit of equality, but major league fielding records held by Earl Clark of the Boston Red Sox, 191 putouts, and an assist was just under the 120 mark.

Pitcher Max Lanier was the hero of the opener, in which he allowed only three hits, permitted one walk and fanned four batters. The game gave him his 13th victory and second shutout.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Taking a leaf from the book of John McGraw, the New York Giants are off to a flying start in the National League pennant race—at the expense of the other eastern teams.

They are second in the national standing, with seven victories against three defeats; but winning six of their first seven games was a surprise, winning for an outfit that wound up last in 1943.

This is the type of fast break always urged by the late McGraw when he managed the Giants from 1902 to 1932. He demanded an early all-out effort against eastern teams, so that the Giants would have the mathematical and psychological advantage of leading the race when they first tangled with tough western clubs. He wanted a "cushion" of victories before the season-along play.

NOW IN SECOND PLACE

With such a cushion when they open their first western invasion at Cincinnati, May 10, the Giants will now, The St. Louis Cardinals ahead and Chicago Cubs behind, are breathing on their heels.

Two chief factors in the Giants' current success have been (1) Unexpectedly good pitching from Rubein Bill Vessie, Ewald Pyle and Ace Adams; and (2) excellent hitting by veteran Joe Meehan and Ernie Lombardi. Meehan and Schnor are batting around .400.

Meehan faded to .278 during his split season with the Dodgers and Giants last year. He is now hitting mark during 12 seasons in the majors. But in the games to date, he has displayed the day of his gas house days with the Cards.

THE Big question is this: How long can Vossie, Adams and Pyle carry the pitching load? How long will they, assisted by reliever Harry Feldman, continue to win close games? Four victories were by seven-run margins, and two were by two-tally advantages. In Friday's triumph over Brooklyn, Vossie—the big right-hander, from Ninety-Six, S.C.—was credited with his third victory of the season. However, he was nipped for 11 hits, including two home runs, and finally veered the mound in the eighth.

Pyle, beaten yesterday by Brooklyn, last Tuesday became fatigued after 10 innings and was relieved in the 12th as the Giants suffered their first defeat by the Phillies. However, he had pitched like a mauler in his four starts against the Braves, April 19, Adams, who went against the Dodgers Saturday, and lost, showed durability in beating them on the 21st.

Out fielded lanky Cliff Nelson on the 20th, but he was rapped for 11 hits and seven runs before being relieved in the sixth. Nelson got credit for the victory, but he showed that he will not be a contender until the weather warms. He also got credit for yesterday's lapidary work over Brooklyn, but Feldman took over when the Dodgers rallied in the fourth.

The Giants have taken a leaf from the book of McGraw, but they will need pitchers to illustrate it if they would part the mud.

TORONTO, May 1.—(CP)—Quebec City reportedly was very lukewarm in its reaction to the Allan Cup-winning team, and fans are trying to figure out why. Although the Quebec squad brought the ancient city its first cup in history, only 4,000 turned out for the final game against Port Arthur and those who did go seemed to have left the rink quietly without any of the traditional "hoorah" and celebration and shoulder-hoisting.

Jack (Cornwall Standard Freeholder) Park, with an eye on other amateur series that don't pay off so well either, advances the opinion the fans are going sour on the game. He thinks it would be best to call the whole thing off now before interest dies completely.

Perhaps interest does slacken off, quite naturally, when the lengthy playoffs drag into late spring, but there are still plenty of fans who want the game maintained so they can take in a match when they feel like it. The sturdy outcry against the service has on sport was a good indication of that. The boys in the services especially are keen to have the game continued.

Incidentally, Bill (Hagars Falls Review) Gavron hears the rumor that coach Brian Timmis may be ousted from the helm of Hamilton Wildcats, last year's Canadian football champions. Bill says Timmis disagreed with the club sponsors over the small share of maximum given some of the Wildcat players after the season ended. Joe Kroll is advanced as the probable choice as coach.

Instead of having senior officers perform the army boxing matches, Jim Coleman of the Toronto Globe and Mail suggests turning the job over to men in the ranks who have had previous experience as referees or judges. Johnny Green, recently mustered out of the Canadian army, has been registered with the New York boxing commission by his manager and probably will soon appear in ring warfare again.

Who said the hockey season was over? Maribou Midge of the Toronto Hockey League has challenged Toronto Young Leafs to a "war of attrition" match in the mid-June, held by Leafs. The two teams have not met this past winter. Miss Lillian Craigie is the first Manitoba to score a hole-in-one this season.

DAR-ESSALAM—(CP)—Tanzania has more than doubled its production of high-grade beewax in the last year, and hundreds of tons are to be sent to Britain. Beewax has many vital uses, many of them in important war industries.

Meade Is Said Ready To Demand Hearing

NEW YORK, May 1.—It is understood that Don Meade will apply for a license to ride on New York tracks and sue for a trial hearing a la Robert Merritt unless he gets it.

It is reported that all the stewards have on Meade since his Florida banishment, for betting on horses other than his own in races in which he rode, is the rough-and-ready incident in which he should to Herb Lindberg, with whom he was coupled as an entry, to take another horse, Inasmuch as the serious Florida offense finally—was forgiven, the comparatively trivial more recent one hardly justifies a life sentence.

It is said that when Eddie Arcaro was restored to good standing the stewards kept Meade on the ground because they felt it was necessary to make someone appear as a deterrent to betting in order for them to retain their royal prestige.

You hear Meade also will have the financial backing of Grand Thoroughbred, the multi-millionaire car manufacturer and horse owner who saw the Robby Merritt case through to a successful conclusion. Thoroughbred is taking delight in making a few feathers with his tar.

Hudson's Bay Company.
INCORPORATED 27th MAY 1670.

Tomorrow we've been 274 years in Canada

Tomorrow, May 2nd, 1944, marks the granting of the Charter, 274 ago, to the Governor and Company of Adventurers of England trading into Hudson Bay. Two years prior to the granting of the Charter the gallant little "Nonsuch" from which the Edmonton Naval Station H.M.C.S. "Nonsuch" takes its name, crossed the Atlantic, spent several months in James Bay and returned to England loaded to the bulwarks with a valuable cargo of furs. It was the success of this first voyage that determined the supporters of the enterprise to apply to King Charles II for the Royal Charter.

Since that momentous May 2nd, in 1670, we have been pioneering with Canada. Pioneering is not a sedentary thing, done and accomplished. Pioneering is a constant challenge in a country as young and enterprising as ours. In our long years, we have known the shadow and storm of nine wars . . . and now, this is our tenth. Yet out of every adversity and hardship we have seen glorious Canadian dawns. The history of Canada and the Hudson's Bay Company is forever bound up with deeds of great bravery and perseverance.

Our lean, leathery men of the fur brigade, the covered wagon pioneers, the ill-equipped soldiers of earlier wars . . . they are the essence, the sinews of Canada. In the present crisis let us meet the challenge squarely as Canadians always have. Let us draw strength from our heritage and believe in our ability and our destiny. Let us look ahead with the courage of experience that recognizes difficulties ahead yet shirk not the hard tasks which must be done to attain victory. Answer we must, Canada's call of the hour, and pledge ourselves to put Victory first!

Listav Fabric Popular Here

Listav is the latest news in Edmonton's summer fashion picture. Manufactured in Manchester, Eng., by the Tootal Broadhurst Lee Company, who developed and patented this crease-creating fabric, the arrival today of a recent shipment is expected to offset any summer shortage of dress goods.

Pretty to look at, yes; but this summer season's yardage must be hardy enough to stand vigorous tubbings and outdoor wear, and Listav, developed from a rayon, will withstand many washings. It comes in fresh colored prints in a wide range of shades and features bright and pastel-toned prints in fair selection of patterns, styled on the latest splashy English modes.

Listav will have to take the place of cottons, formerly imported from the U.S., which will be hard to get this summer in any variety.

From the south of the border comes news of cotton wedding samples with cotton-made trousseaux. Local June brides here may follow the lead in washable material for summer wedding since all bridal materials are so restricted. Effective for warm weather nuptials is a crisp starched white, or a tiered skirt in dotted muslin topped by a sheer white blouse.

SILK JERSEYS

For afternoon frocks there are printed silk jerseys which, besides to find than the washable materials, requires little pressing.

Nearest embroidery, which is still in demand, but it is not available in any quantity and local shops expect no further supply in the near future.

Due to the shortages more women are becoming their own designers so there has been a definite increase in the demand for dress goods.

So far Edmonton's washable summer market is bright, with a wide selection of prints and shades available for summer frocks.

Dance Held At Armory

The Edmonton Garrison Sergeants' Mess, Prince of Wales Armory, was the scene of entertainment and dance for the regular Saturday night's get-together.

Jack Jones was master of ceremonies and those taking part included: Betty Simms, Norma Macdill, Jim Deane, Frank News and Stiff Sgt. Frank Hume, U.S.A. special services.

Sergeants and warrant officers of the reserve army units in Edmonton were guests.

Following the entertainment dancing was enjoyed with Sgt. H. F. Norbury as master of ceremonies. Lunch was served. Sgt. Vera Shirley, C.W.A.C. recruiting officer, was winner of a $500 recruiting drive.

Four Named to Agricultural Staff, Women's Affairs

The appointment of two new district agriculturalists, two new district home economists, as well as staff changes in the agricultural and economists' departments, were announced Monday by Mr. D. Bruce MacMillan, minister of agriculture.

The new agriculturalists are N. F. Bell, who has been named to Drumheller, and J. W. H. Bell, who is to take up his duties at Medicine Hat.

Mr. Bell has been supervisor of illustration stations under the Prairie Farm Relief Act at Scott, Sask., since 1938. He is a graduate of the University of Alberta, and has had long experience in agricultural extension work.

Mr. Taylor will graduate from the university this year. He is a former school teacher, and will take up his duties at Medicine Hat at the middle of the month.

STAFF CHANGES

Changes in the agricultural staff include the appointment of J. F. Carmichael, former district agriculturalist at Drumheller, to be assistant district agriculturalist at Lethbridge, and of J. T. Stranaka as district agriculturalist at Lethbridge. The latter succeeded W. S. Scarth, who was moved to Edmonton.

District Home economists appointed are Miss Norma Hogg, who will go to Calgary, and Miss L. P. Low, who has been appointed to Lethbridge.

WOMEN'S WORK

In addition to these appointments, which Mr. MacMillan said are the beginning of expansion operations in the women's extension program, it was announced that Miss C. McIntyre and Miss Helen Nilsson, both of Old School of Agriculture staff, will work during the summer months at district home economists, at Vermilion and Grande Prairie respectively.

Miss E. M. Switzer, also will be engaged on women's extension work for the summer.

Both Miss Hogg and Miss Low will graduate this spring from the University of Alberta, and will take over their duties early in May.

Two more appointments of home economists will be made in the near future, Mr. MacMillan stated.

Burglary Counts Earn 18 Months

Alfred Brown, placed under arrest by city police early Sunday after allegedly being found in a Jarvis avenue suite and found to be in possession of a number of articles reported stolen from a city hotel, was charged with burglary on two counts.

Officers went to the Jasper avenue suite about 2:30 a.m. Sunday where they learned that Brown had turned into a suite occupied by two women, by means of a basement window. Asked to leave, Brown was said to have refused.

Taken to police headquarters, he was searched and found to be in possession of an electric razor, some cigarettes and a quantity of liquor, which had been reported stolen from the room of James Forbes, guest of a downtown hotel.

Mr. Forbes informed police that his room had been entered by means of the transom, some time between 9:30 and 11:15 p.m. Saturday, and that three bottles of liquor, five cartons of cigarettes and the electric razor had been taken.

Pleading guilty to both charges of burglary, before Magistrate A. J. Millar, K.C., Monday morning, Mr. Brown was reminded that he had been convicted in England for burglary, and with being in possession of stolen property in Edmonton in 1938.

On each count he was sentenced to 18 months imprisonment, with terms to run concurrently.

Polish Society Will Celebrate

The Polish Veterans Society will hold celebrations commemorating the founding of the Polish constitution on Sunday, May 7, at the Memorial Hall.

Dr. Julius Szygowski, Polish consul at Winnipeg, and many military officials, and civic dignitaries as well as guests from other provinces will attend.

R. Hauptman, president of the Polish Veterans Society, will be present at the functions.

The program opens Sunday with High Mass held in the Holy Rosary church at 11 a.m., to be followed by a banquet at the Memorial Hall at 1 p.m.

Dr. Szygowski will be the guest speaker at the afternoon session and a highlight of the day will be the presentation of an Honor Roll containing the names of the Polish residents of this city and district who have enlisted in the Canadian armed forces.

The local Edmonton Regiment band will be present for the entertainment.

Before the Magistrate

Felix Bronco, an officer of the R.C.M.P., told Magistrate A. J. Millar, K.C., Monday morning, had admitted at police barracks that he had been convicted once before for being in the condition he was in when picked up the previous night. It was real deed of Felix, the court, thought.

"I have three full counts concerning you," said Mr. Millar. "There are between 30 and 40, or maybe 50 convictions here," he added, as he fined Felix $75 and costs or two months with hard labor.

Stan Stockley, found guilty of driving at an unreasonable speed, was assessed $15 or 21 days. Accused was observed allegedly driving a gasoline truck at 80 m.p.h. on a speed on 104 avenue. The observer, another motorist, stated that the accused failed to observe stop signs at 128 street, at a railway crossing, and at 107 street. Stockley, while admitting that he had not stopped, but only slowed down, said his speedometer was broken and he thought it was safe to pass through the signs when there was no other traffic.

Eugene Westergren, Yellowknife, charged with dangerous driving, was fined $15 and 30 days. While operating a motor vehicle on Saturday, the accused struck and damaged a parked car at 96 street and 505 avenue, the court was informed.

Arbor Day Views Business as Usual

Arbor Day was being observed by schools throughout the province Monday. The day traditionally is set aside for tree-planting activities and nature study of the plants of the forest.

The day is not being observed by the government as a holiday, as has been the custom in years past. Neither are banks, which used to close in observance of Arbor Day, but dropped the custom at the outbreak of the war.

It is understood the government decided not to declare the day a holiday on account of May 21, a holiday some three weeks hence and because the four-day Easter holiday fell just three weeks ago. Civic employees, however, were enjoying a holiday.

City employees do not get Easter Monday, and under working agreements with the city they get Arbor Day instead. Provincial government and Federal offices were open and few, if any, private offices or stores were closed. Schools also were open.

Britons Study
Plan For World
Trade Alliance

By BLAKE SULLIVAN
LONDON, May 1.—(AP)—British businessmen, eager to restore a well-ordered world trade after the war and a little anxious about competing with the United States' re-stimulated industry, are taking a keen interest in plans involving international trade agreements.

Chief of these—and one which has aroused some controversy—is the world trade alliance, devised by economist Sir Edgar Jones, former chairman of the international trade cartel.

WARMEST CRITICISM
Principal point in the alliance platform and the one which arouses warmest criticism is that calling for the regulation of trade in major export commodities by a system of international agreements. These agreements would divide markets among the participating countries and guarantee producers "a reasonable profit."

Critics of the plan say this all adds up to one thing—cartels. Source of the controversy is the provision in the plan for a trade committee, composed of representatives of participating countries, to stabilize prices of each principal commodity and determine the amount each country should export or import.

Primary aims of the world trade alliance are these:

1. Full consumption of the output of the world's main export commodities.
2. Price stability for export goods.
3. Increased demand for products of all countries.
4. Full employment of labor and a higher living standard in all countries.

Soviet Agrees on Rule For Czechs

LONDON, May 1.—(CP)—The Soviet Union has agreed with the Czech-Slovak government on the administration of Czech-Slovak areas liberated by the Red Army, the Moscow radio said last night, quoting a press conference statement by Andrei J. Vishinsky, Soviet vice-commissioner for foreign affairs.

The agreement was proposed by the Czechs and provides that supreme matter in military powers in the operational zone on Czech-Slovak territory shall be vested in the supreme (Red Army) commander so long as required, said the broadcast, recorded by the Soviet Monitor.

The Russian and the Czech-Slovak government in London signed a 20-year pact for mutual aid last Dec. 12 with the aim of post-war co-operation.

Patriots in the homeland have been instructed to battle as guerrillas against the Germans. A brigade of Czechs is fighting alongside the Russians.

Stettinius is on his way home from London where he has discussed a long list of war and post-war problems with the British government.

9-Ship German Convoy Smashed In Bold Raid on Norse Harbor

By LEO S. DISHER
ABOARD A BRITISH AIRCRAFT CARRIER OFF NORWAY, April 28.—(Delayed)—British carrier planes, fighting through snow storms and icy rain, smashed a nine-ship German convoy today off the Norwegian Arctic coast and set fire to an 8,000-ton merchantman in a bold attack on Bodo harbor.

All four merchantmen in the convoy were hit. One of the five escort ships, all of flakship type, was believed sunk and the other four were hit by the incendiary bullets of fighter planes. Fires were started on some.

The raid, including the attack on Bodo, the most important German shipping point north of Tromsø, was made at the cost of one bomber and four fighters.

MADE EARLY START
It was 4:30 a.m. when the bombers of this carrier force 1 a.m. with took off while high winds swept the snow across the carriers. This close to the North Pole at this time of year there is no real night, so there is no real dawn, only a gray cold light which brightens slowly.

The Baraunda dive-bombers divided into two flights, each with fighter escort. One formation flew straight toward Bodo harbor, just north of the Arctic Circle and south of Narvik and the Lofoten islands.

Ranging up the fjord the planes sighted the German ships just leaving Bodo, southward bound, in face of a screen of fighters. The raiders kept going in.

The 8,000-toner, possibly carrying troops, burst into fire and grounded on rocks, a total loss. A 3,000-ton merchantman was set afire, as was a 1,200-tonner of tanker type. The remaining merchantman, a 2,000-tonner, was hit. One of the five flakships was hit and was not seen again. All four of the remaining flakships were heavily punished and fires were started.

By smashing the convoy the British planes knocked out perhaps one-tenth to one-fourth the number of German ships of considerable size which streak along the Norwegian coast during an average month, it was estimated.

Canadian Pacific Employees Near Half Loan Goal
MONTREAL, Que., May 1.—With $342,200 or little short of 50 per cent of their $700,000 Sixth Victory Loan objective already subscribed in the first five days of the campaign, the Canadian Pacific employees Sixth Victory Loan drive is considerably expected to go "over the top," according to J. Dlamy, secretary of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., Montreal, and member of the general loan committee. Subscriptions figures for Saturday have yet to be added to the above first-named figures to shape the week's cumulative total, however.

The company and union accepted proposals set forth by the National War Labor Relations Board following a two-day conference at Ottawa with federal arbitrators George Hurt, Canadian director of the U.A.W., told a mass meeting of employees Saturday the "Union cause has been upheld by the board and we congratulate the board on reaching their recommendation."

He can even joke about his "pension stilts"

A YOUNG AIR FORCE HERO, just returned from overseas, was being interviewed by newspaper reporters.

With a cheerful grin he chatted casually about split-second air duels fought at fantastic speeds. To listen, you'd think it was great sport diving, twisting and looping in a "kite", flirting with "flak" and playing deadly tag with "Jerry".

His first crash didn't even muss his hair. The second...

Well, he'll never walk again. Yet you'd never guess that he cared. He wasn't bitter, or looking for sympathy. In fact, he even made wise cracks about his crutches. "Pension stilts", he called them. And it seemed his only regret was that he couldn't have another crack at the Luftwaffe!

Would you care to match your spirit with his?

You are now being urged to invest money; safely and profitably, in Victory Bonds. This, certainly, is little to ask. But you must respond as never before! For the appalling losses in lives and materials that go with invasion must be matched with greater self-denial at home!

Will you give up—just temporarily—some pleasures and even some so-called necessities in order to buy extra Victory Bonds?

Will you do so with a smile?
